Search Engine listings and 192.com

Google and other search engines visit websites and take a snapshot of pages at any given time. The snapshot does not contain your full address. This snapshot then helps make up their listings pages. When we remove a record from 192.com this does not automatically remove the link as shown on Google and other search engines. Once your record is removed, if anyone clicks on the link in Google the page they are taken to will not show your record.
